Set within the beautiful, historic city of Stirling, The Stirling Highland Hotel is a handsome Victorian building and ancient observatory that perfectly reflects the rich heritage of the area — known as the gateway to the Highlands. Originally built as a school in 1854, the hotel lies within easy reach of both Glasgow and Edinburgh and provides the perfect base for exploring the fascinating city of Stirling.

Occupying a site below Stirling Castle and the Church of Holy Rude, The Stirling Highland Hotel has once been a Franciscan (or Greyfriars) Convent, founded by King James IV in 1494. The King, who died heroically at the Battle of Flodden in 1513, often did penance for his wild ways at the Greyfriars.

The Convent was demolished in 1559 during the Reformation and its teaching function was taken over by a newly-instituted grammar school, soon to become The Stirling Highland Hotel.

Keovil House Hotel is a leading country house & leisure spa in a beautiful, rural setting. Nestling in 12 acres of landscaped gardens the hotel is just a short drive from Edinburgh city centre and Edinburgh International airport and provides a gateway to the pretty coastal villages and beaches of Fife.

The Ardgowan Hotel is a 36 bedroom family-run, three star AA and Visit Scotland rated hotel in the heart of St Andrews. The team is dedicated to providing a home away from home for every guest who walks through the doors.

The building dates from 1847 and was designed by famous Scottish Architect George Rae whose other works include the original clubhouse now known and the R&A clubhouse which is just a two-minute walk from the hotel and overlooks the first tee on The Old Course.

Play golf

One thing we are not short on in Scotland are golf courses. If you would like to add a round to your Solheim package, then the choices are endless.

Day 2 on the base 5 night packages lends itself to a round of golf. An early tee time will still allow time to attend the opening ceremony at Gleneagles and as an “Authorised Tour Operator” we have access to tee times at The Gleneagles Hotel on both the King’s and Queen’s courses.

Adding extra nights as a pre or post Solheim tour extension will allow you to experience the very best of Scotland’s golf courses. Visit the Highland’s for a change to play Royal Dornoch and Castle Stuart; head to Ayrshire on the west coast to play at Turnberry, Prestwick or Royal Troon and don’t forget Edinburgh, our capital city, with Muirfield and North Berwick just a short drive away.

Highland Courses – Royal Dornoch, Castle Stuart, Nairn, Brora, Nairn Dunbar and Golspie

Ayrshire Courses – Trump Turnberry, Royal Troon, Prestwick, Western Gales, Glasgow Gales, Dundonald

Fife (St Andrews) – The Old Course, New, Jubilee, Castle, Kingsbarns, Lundin Links, Crail, Fairmont, Scotsraig, The Dukes Course.

Carnoustie Country – Carnoustie Championship & Burnside, Moniefieth, Panmure.
